Good Friday People, Easter Day People

The great celebrations of Good Friday and Easter feel a long way off as I write in the first week in Lent. But to think of Good Friday and Easter Day as just two days, albeit very important days, in the year is to misunderstand Good Friday and Easter Day in the Christian experience.

It is relatively easy as Christians to think of ourselves as Easter Day people. We live the other side of the resurrection. We have the gift of the Holy Spirit who helps us know the presence of the resurrected Jesus with us at all times. Living as Good Friday people is more difficult to grapple with. It suggests the need to engage with the dark and painful side of life. Which is exactly why we need to live as Good Friday people as well as Easter Day people.

As I write, war is raging in Ukraine; people in Afghanistan are selling their kidneys as they strive to meet the rising cost of their daily bread; we continue to feel the effects of Covid even as we seek to leave the pandemic behind. We can be in no doubt. The fallen world in which we live has a dark and painful side to it. If I need further reminders of that I need only to think of the privileged hours which I spend with the very seriously ill, the dying and the bereaved. I am entirely sincere when I say that these are privileged hours. Yet these experiences also remind me of the dark and painful side of life which, all of us, sooner or later, must grapple with.

Yes, as Christians we are Easter Day people. We live in the light of the resurrection, and we rejoice in that. But we must also be Good Friday people living in a broken and hurting world.

If we are to cope with the reality of the darker, more painful side of our lives and of the world in which we live, we must be Good Friday people, able to bear pain and desolation in order to be Easter Day people, able to bring the hope of the resurrection to more difficult side of life.

If we want to truly live in the light of the resurrection, we must also walk the way of crucifixion. We can only do that when we live as both Good Friday people and as Easter Day people.

In his book 23 Days: A story of love, death and God, Francis Bridger quotes the Old Testament scholar Walter Bruggeman who says:

“The way to Easter is Good Friday. The victory of the resurrection requires the vulnerability of the crucifixion...”

We cannot have Easter Day without Good Friday. As we prepare ourselves to celebrate Easter this Lent, mark Good Friday as well as celebrate the joy of the resurrection on Easter Day. Living comfortably with Good Friday is the only way we can bring real resurrection hope to a broken world.

Yours in our crucified and risen Jesus,

Revd Anne

St David's Patronal Service

Sunday March 6th was a truly joyous occasion when the four churches came together to celebrate St. David's Day. We were uplifted by the service of Holy Communion and the wonderful singing! The church looked beautiful, adorned with masses of golden yellow daffodils. The tables were laden with a delicious assortment of refreshments and everyone enjoyed being united in fellowship after such a long time apart. Thank you to everyone who made this such a memorable occasion.

Saint Mary Magdalene

At Easter we think of Jesus, his crucifixion and resurrection, and the women who found his empty tomb. One woman said to be present throughout these traumatic events was Mary Magdalene, subject of historical, Biblical and legendary writings and art. Mary was the most common name during Jesus' lifetime and this woman was distinguished from others by her reference to her birthplace, Magdala, a fishing village on the Sea of Galilee. At various times in history, she has been known as a great beauty, a loose woman and a supporter of Jesus during his ministry. There are records of wealthy women supporting synagogues with their money at this time, so that is a possible role for Mary. Her sinful nature may be a reference to simply not following all the demands of Jewish law, but is more likely to have come from Pope Gregory I who, in the middle ages, wrote that her sins had been of a sexual nature. The Bible has more than a dozen references to her as a part of the group of women who followed Jesus during his ministry and formed the Christian church after his execution. There is some confusion about her exact identity, some writings say that she was the sister of Lazarus and Martha, some that she was the un-named woman who anointed Jesus' feet with perfumed oil and some that she was a separate person to both of these options.

Whoever Mary was, she is recorded in the Bible as a woman present during Christ's crucifixion, either alone or with other women. Perhaps the women remained at the cross because they were less likely than the male disciples to be arrested, perhaps they were braver than the men. The Gospel of Mark says that when Jesus was taken down from the cross Mary Magdalene accompanied the body to the burial site. Two days later she is said to be walking towards the tomb when she discovers that it is empty. Meeting two angels they tell her that Jesus is risen from the dead, although when she meets a man walking alone she mistakes him for the gardener until she recognises his voice.

After the events of the resurrection we hear nothing of Mary until she appears in 'The Golden Legend'. This story says that 14 years after the crucifixion she is thrown into a boat with other Christians and set adrift on the Mediterranean Sea. By some miracle the boat eventually washes ashore at Marseille in France. There Mary converts the Governor to Christianity by praying that his wife should become pregnant. The Governor decides to sail to Rome to meet the apostle Peter, along with his wife. A storm leads to her giving birth in the boat and losing her own life. Grief stricken, the Governor puts the living child and his wife's body on an island. After two years in Rome the Governor sails home to France, stopping at the island to remember his wife and child. They are both alive, a double miracle attributed to the power of Mary Magdalene. Meanwhile Mary spends the remaining thirty years of her life living in a cave in Provence. Even in death she is still remembered, and her relics preserved in Aix en Provence, then moved to Vezelay in 771 AD. Today her skull is displayed at Saint Maximin-La-Sainte – Baume along with a tibia bone. She remains the Patron Saint of women and order of preachers, recognition for her steadfastness beside Jesus and her role in his life and death.

Peace for Ukraine

A Prayer for Ukraine
 God of peace and justice,
 We pray for the people of Ukraine
 today.
 We pray for peace and the laying down
 of weapons.
 We pray for all those who fear for tomorrow,
 That your Spirit of comfort would draw near to them.
 We pray for those with power over war
 and peace,
 For wisdom, discernment and compassion
 To guide their decisions.
 Above all, we pray for all your precious children, at risk and in fear, that you would hold and protect them.
 We pray in the name of Jesus, the Prince of Peace.

Amen
 Archbishop Justin Welby
 Archbishop Stephen Cottrell

We have been showing our support for the people of Ukraine. In common with the churches in the diocese, we tolled the bell at 6pm on 1st March and the church was open for half an hour for people to come and pray. We have contributed money and the school has had a magnificent collection of much needed items for the refugees in Poland. We have flown the Ukrainian flag too as a small gesture of support. The flag was put up the day after the Russians bombed a children's hospital. We pray that the terrible conflict will end soon. IB

Prayer for Ukraine

I am sure that you are concerned, as I am, about the situation in Ukraine. At their last meeting, the PCC decided to keep Acton church open from 12.00 Noon until 1.00 pm each Wednesday for anyone wishing to come into church to pray for peace and for all those involved. SAL

Chester Cathedral: Pilgrim Porch

Every parish church and their associated daughter churches are invited to participate in this exciting and historic commission.

Led by Chester Cathedral and esteemed Cheshire-based artist, Stephen Broadbent, Pilgrim Porch aims to capture a snapshot of worshipping life across the Diocese of Chester. Every contribution will be encapsulated into a new permanent architectural feature and artwork which is to be installed at the west doors of Chester Cathedral.

"Engineering made to last"

The finished installation will be a sculptural bronze porch with ceremonial glass doors positioned at the west end of the Cathedral. It will be unveiled later this year as part of the Queen's Platinum Jubilee celebrations. The hinges that will support the 3m tall doors have been designed to last at least 300 years.

A fitting tribute to the Queen

The Bishop of Chester, Mark Tanner says: "It is relatively rare that an artist is commissioned to create a new permanent fixture for the interior of a medieval Cathedral. Even more special, though, that such a project can mark and celebrate the Platinum Jubilee of a reigning monarch. We hope that this project will be a fitting tribute to the remarkable reign of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II and a permanent enhancement to the fabric of our Cathedral."

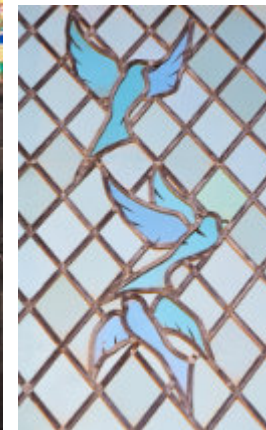

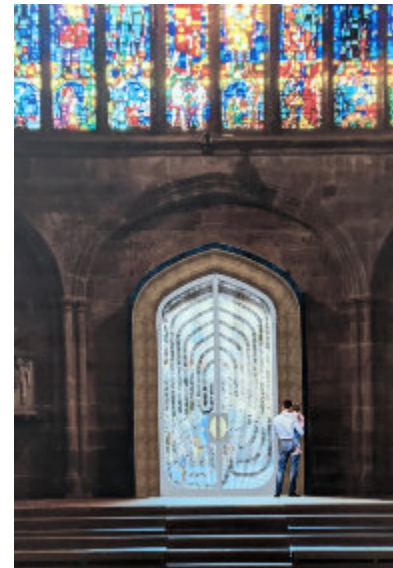

Artist Stephen Broadbent says: "I am asking every church in the diocese to share an image that is significant and meaningful to them.

Perhaps it's an image of a piece of stained glass or a carved detail in the parish church, or another notable element of your worshipping community.

"Together, with almost 400 other contributions from across the diocese, we will create a unique permanent artwork that will form a labyrinth design, symbolically connecting every church to each other and to the Cathedral – the Mother Church of the diocese."

St. David's has chosen the beautiful West Window depicting the doves in the form of a cross. This was installed for the Millennium and symbolises the doves of peace, the Holy Spirit and St. David.

St. Oswald's has chosen the beautiful carved painted cross hanging from the rafters of the building.

Calveley School

Children at Calveley Academy enjoyed celebrating World Book Day this year. The children and staff all came into school wearing fantastic costumes! Even our school dog Finn came dressed to impress!

The children took part in a range of activities to celebrate their love of reading. In the morning we admired everyone's costumes in assembly and discussed our favourite characters. The older children visited the younger children to share stories together before taking part in a "Where's Wally?" hunt to find the character all over the school. We sang songs, drew illustrations and swapped books with our classmates. The children also sent in photos of themselves taking part in "extreme reading" at home.

We have also enjoyed a First Aid Workshop. All children explored lifesaving equipment and learnt the basic techniques for saving a life. We looked at Dr's ABC (Airway, Breathing Circulation) calling an ambulance and CPR using the Bee Gees song "Staying Alive". This month has also been filled with lots of sport competitions, including football, athletics and gymnastics.

Worleston School

St. Oswald's Worleston School donation hub for the Ukrainian Refugees:

Once the children at St. Oswald's heard about the plight of the Ukrainian families fleeing the war in their country, they sprang into action to help as best they could. We managed to find a local Polish charity that was transporting donations down to London and then on to Refugee centres in Poland. Within the space of a few days, Mr Goodwin's office had been filled with a mountain of donations that were specifically requested such as nappies, sanitary products, pet food, blankets and duvets / sleeping bags and food. It was overwhelming to see the generosity of everyone in the whole St. Oswald's community and we managed to completely fill 2 horse trailers full of donations which were bound for Poland. All the children and staff in school have been thinking about and praying for the families caught up in the terrible circumstances in Ukraine.

Stay and Play in our Nursery and Reception Early Years Setting:

It has been heart-warming to be able to get back to some of the special events we hold in school but have not been able to do so over the past 2 years of the Pandemic. Stay and Play is one of these special family events in school that we have recently been able to reintroduce. This is when the parents of our Nursery and Reception children from the age of 3 years old to 5 years old get to come into the classroom and spend some time with their child learning alongside them and celebrating all their achievements. This has certainly been something that we've loved seeing back on the St. Oswald's calendar.

World Book Day:

On Thursday 3rd March, the children of St. Oswald's Worleston celebrated World Book Day by dressing up as their favourite book character for the day and sharing their favourite story. It was a wonderful day had by all and a great way to keep the 'love of reading' a high profile in school.

We are now looking ahead to Easter and the excitement of doing our first whole school performance in St. Oswald's Church for a very long time!

During one of the recent storms a tree was blown down in the churchyard. Fortunately there was no damage to any of the graves or the churchyard wall. However, there was quite a mess to clear up and branches to be cut away. Our thank to George Stevenson, Chris Black, Mike, Richard and Monty Alexander and Alan Jones who spent the greater part of a Saturday removing the tree and all the branches, and making everything safe. We are very grateful for your help. Thanks also to Charlie and Andrew Buckland of Buckland Tree Care who took away all the smaller branches and debris and tidied where the tree had fallen.

Thank you all.

It was agreed at the last Coffee & Cake morning that all the usual donations should be sent to the appeal for Ukrainian refugees. £87 was given and then Wettenhall contributed £31 and with some other donations a grand total of £150 was received. Thank you.
